

Modes of Transmission Quiz

Questions

Question Group 1

1. Tuberculosis, measles, and West Nile virus can all be transmitted by the airborne route.

(True/False Question, 1 points)

Tuberculosis, measles, and West Nile virus can all be transmitted by the airborne route.

- True
- False

2. Personal Protective Equipment required for Droplet Precautions includes:

(Multiple Choice Question, 1 points)

Personal Protective Equipment required for Droplet Precautions includes:

- N95 mask and eye protection
- Gloves and gown
- Procedure mask and eye protection
- N95 mask only

N95 mask and eye protection

Gloves and gown

Procedure mask and eye protection

N95 mask only

3. Appropriate types of eye protection include (check all that apply):

(Multiple Response Question, 1 points)

Appropriate types of eye protection include (check all that apply):

- Face shield
- Goggles
- Eye glasses
- Mask with attached face shield
- Face shield with eye glasses

4. Negative pressure air flow, used for clients on airborne precautions, causes the air from the client's room to flow from the room to the hallway.

(True/False Question, 1 points)

Negative pressure air flow, used for clients on airborne precautions, causes the air from the client's room to flow from the room to the hallway.

- True
- False

5. Hand hygiene is the single most important way to prevent the spread of germs in the healthcare setting.

(True/False Question, 1 points)

Hand hygiene is the single most important way to prevent the spread of germs in the healthcare setting.

True

False

6. Match the germ with its primary mode of transmission.

(Matching Drag and Drop Question, 1 points)

Match the germ with its primary mode of transmission.

MRSA	Contact Transmission
Tuberculosis	Airborne Transmission
The common cold	Droplet & ContactTransmission
Chickenpox	Airborne Transmission
Malaria	Vectorborne Transmission

7. The following are examples of reservoirs (a place where a germ can live and multiply):

(Multiple Choice Question, 1 points)

The following are examples of reservoirs (a place where a germ can live and multiply):

- Medical equipment
- Fruits and vegetables
- Humans
- All of the above

8. In order to stop our germs from spreading to others, we should cough:

(Multiple Choice Question, 1 points)

In order to stop our germs from spreading to others, we should cough:

- Into our hands, and then perform hand hygiene
- Into the air, and then perform hand hygiene
- Into our sleeve, and then perform hand hygiene
- Over our shoulder, and then perform hand hygiene

9. Using gloves properly means that we should always remember to:

(Multiple Choice Question, 1 points)

Using gloves properly means that we should always remember to:

- Remove our gloves when we reach the dirty utility room
- Double glove to protect ourselves from possible holes in the gloves
- Perform hand hygiene each time we remove our gloves
- Wash our gloves after each use with a client

10. The most common mode of transmission seen in healthcare is:

(Multiple Choice Question, 1 points)

The most common mode of transmission seen in healthcare is:

- Vehicleborne transmission
- Airborne transmission
- Contact transmission
- Parenteral transmission